

S U M M A R Y

Company – sale of shares and transfer of – parties entering into written agreement whereby purchasers would acquire cumulative preference shares in company to be incorporated – company repudiating agreement by issuing to purchasers ordinary shares in separate company in terms of alleged oral variation of agreement – and alleging substituted performance – the purchasers successfully claiming specific performance.