The Supreme Court of Appeal today partly upheld an appeal against a judgment in the Pretoria High Court in which claims by the plaintiffs, Lancino Financial Investment (Pty) Ltd and Mr J H Hattingh, had been dismissed on the ground that the claims as pleaded did not make out a valid cause of action. The SCA upheld the finding that the claims did not make out a valid cause of action, but set aside their dismissal which, instead, gave the plaintiffs leave to amend them by no later than 27 June 2008. No order was made as to the costs of the appeal.
